COMMENT ON THE TITLE

"IF THIS BOB'S YOUR UNCLE, DI IS YOUR COUSIN"

In this genealogy, the title refers to the earliest Hibbard progenitor in America of H.R.H. THE PRINCESS OF WALES, Robert Hibbard, page 67, his son Robert Hibbard, page 50, and his son Robert Hibbard, page 38. The last Robert Hibbard is brother of Ebenezer Hibbard, page 51, the tenth generation American ancestor of H.R.H. THE PRINCESS OF WALES. The line is as follows:

Robert Hibbard [12] married Joan Luff. Their son Robert Hibbard [11] married Mary Walden. Their son Ebenezer Hibbard [10] married Margaret Morgan. Their daughter Keziah Hibbard [9] married Caleb Bishop. Their daughter Lucy Bishop [8] married Benajah Strong. Their son Dr. Joseph Strong [7] married Rebecca Young. Their daughter Eleanor Strong [6] married John Wood. Their daughter Ellen Wood [5] married Frank H. Work. Their daughter Frances Eleanor Work [4] married Honorable James Boothby Burke Roche. Their son Edward Maurice Burke Roche [3] married Sylvia Gill. Their daughter the Honorable Frances Ruth Burke Roche [2] married Edward John Spencer, Vicount Althorp. Their daughter is Lady Diana Frances Spencer [1], now H.R.H. THE PRINCESS OF WALES.

Note: For a thorough treatment of this subject, see "The American Cousins of The Princess of Wales" by Gary Boyd Roberts & William Addams Reitwiesner.

FROM ROYALTY TO THE WHITE HOUSE

As this manuscript was being prepared to send off to the publishers, an article entitled "Notable Kin" by Gary Boyd Roberts appeared in the Feb-Mar 1989 edition of NEGHS NEXUS, Vol. VI, No. 1. It establishes ancestry in common with President Bush as follows:

Edward Bangs [11] married Rebekah. Their son Capt. Jonathan Bangs [10] (page 103) married Mary Mayo. Their son Samuel Bangs [9] married Mary Hinckley. Their son Joseph Bangs [8] married Thankful Hamlin. Their son Lemuel Bangs [7] married Barbara Keeler. Their son Elijah Keeler Bangs [6] married Esther Stackhouse. Their daughter Mary Ann Bangs [5] married Joseph Ambrose Beaky. Their daughter Martha Adela Beaky [4] married David Davis Walker. Their son George Herbert Walker [3] married Lucretia "Loulie" Wear. Their daughter Dorothy Walker [2] married Prescott Sheldon Bush. Their son is George Herbert Walker Bush [1], the 41st President of the United States of America.

P R E F A C E

In 1935, the Town of Old Saybrook, Connecticut celebrated its Tercentenary, the 300th Anniversary of the founding of the Saybrook Colony. I was only 10 years old when our family home, at the southwest corner of Main and Elm streets, was all decked out with red, white, and blue bunting to observe the event. My two brothers and I were dressed up in early American attire and made on stage appearances as part of a hugh outdoor pageant that was performed at Saybrook Point. Imbued with the spirit of the time, my mother and father started collecting ancestral information and discovered that a family in Deep River was now in the possession of a rifle carried by Amos Dickinson in the Revolutionary War. It was learned that Amos was one of mother's ancestors. The rifle was loaned to our family for my oldest brother, Bob, to carry in the pageant. I remember my great grandmother Stevens, born in 1852, who was able to provide the family with a great deal of family history. My dad's sister, Martha Ward Hindman, then living in Pittsburgh, Pa., was extremely helpful in providing data on the Ward family. These records came into my hands in 1976 and were studied in greater detail following retirement in 1983. The line to the Revolutionary War soldier, Amos Dickinson, had never been submitted to the Sons of the American Revolution for confirmation. This was my first goal. As time went on, the research became more interesting, but quickly got bogged down on a pitfall most experienced genealogists are quick to recognize. Considerable time was spent (and lost) on efforts to identify the progenitors in an affadavit signed by one of our well meaning ancestors. The affadavit was entitled "Three Brothers Came Over". Once this "theory" was disproved, progress was steady.

This book is written partly out of tribute to my mother and father who were both proud of their heritage and partly to document not only the diversity of our ancestors but the adversities they encountered; sons being conscripted into Napoleon's army, religious intolerence in England, famines in Ireland, perilous ocean voyages, Indian massacres, women dying at childbirth, wars: King Philip's, Revolutionary, 1812, Civil, and World etc. The study of genealogy reveals a story of how these families coped with the problems of their times. It is hoped that some of that story will come through in the pages to follow.

Traditional ancestries usually start with the earliest male progenitor and trace the male line down to the present day. As a human being, we are the product of ALL our ancestors, not just from one ancestor. Consequently, every effort has been made to identify every female line as well. To implement this approach, the Ahnentafel or ancestral format has been used, where appropriate. This starts with the present generation and identifies their parents, and in turn their parent's parents etc., extending back in time as far as possible.

As this research continued, the ancestry to Stephen Hopkins was established. From Stephen [1], the line extends through his daughter Constance [2] who married Nicholas Snow. Their daughter Sarah [3] married William Walker. Their son William's [4] daughter Mahitable [5] married John Knowles. Their son Elisha [6] married Abigail Cone. Their daughter Mahitable [7] married Amos Dickinson. Their son John [8] married Mary Ely. Their son Amos [9] married Louisa Delia Smith. Their daughter Mary Ann [10] married Oliver Harris. Their daughter Imogene [11] married Edgar W. Stevens. Their daughter Edna [12] married Edward Philip Schaefer. Their daughter Pauline [13] married Robert Boyd Ward II, parents of Robert B., David B. and Edward P. Ward.

Any work of this magnitude and complexity must cite the typical caveat that every effort has gone into the integrity of reporting the records consulted as accurately as possible. Nevertheless, erasers were put on the ends of pencils for people like us. If you find errors or disagree with any of these records, or could add information for future editions, please call it to our attention. For a response, be sure to include a SASE.

Now, a brief comment about the title of this book. My father, Robert Boyd Ward Jr., was the son of Robert Boyd Ward, and was "Uncle Bob" to all of his eight brothers and sisters. "Bob's your Uncle" is a common British catch phrase. Therefore, when it was learned that Robert Hibbard (1647-1710), record # 261 in this genealogy, is an American ancestor of H.R.H. Princess of Wales, then the title "If This Bob's Your Uncle, Di is Your Cousin" seemed appropriate.

Genealogy is a conundrum to many, an activity within a religious context to quite a few more, to some it's a way to remember and honor your ancestors, to others it's just a vanity. Still, if it is possible that someday science, aided by the study of an individual's ancestry, can alter a person's DNA for a better, wiser and healthier life, then this publication is a legacy for our descendants.

A C K N O W L E D G M E N T

A genealogical project such as this takes time, money, pride, travel, patience, correspondence, perserverance, research, cooperation, understanding, foresight, hindsight, and a few more nouns that have probably been overlooked. It was my MOM and DAD that exhibited most of these qualities but the depression stripped them of their monetary wealth. This did not deter them as it merely seemed to make their other qualities that much stronger. Their family notes that were passed on had traced one ancestral line to a Revolutionary War soldier, Amos Dickinson. It was DANNYE DeLORENZO of Glenn Ellen, Ca. who helped prove this line with records from the Daughters of the American Revolution. It was RAELOA FORD COOKE of Twin Falls, Id. who helped with the Harris and Sumner lines. It was JOHN McGIFFERT of County Down, Northern Ireland who helped with the Boyd, Orr, and Cleland lines. It was LAURIE THOMPSON in NYC who helped with the complexities of searching NY Borough records. It was Aunt MARION SCHAEFER BELDEN of Westbrook, Ct.who helped with the Schaefer, Harris, Stevens, and Belden lines. It was JAMES EVANS of Seattle, Wa. who helped with the Evans line. It was CHARLES HOLDEN of Portland,Or. who helped with some of the Ward lines.It was BRAD STEUART of American Genealogical Lending Library in Bountiful, Ut. who gave excellent service in providing records on microfilms and a viewer on which to see them. It was GARY BOYD ROBERTS of the New England Historic and Genealogical Society in Boston, Ma. who helped with the early New England records and the Hibbard line. It was ROSEMARY KENNEDY and CLAUDE HOPKINS of the National Archives in San Bruno, Ca. that helped explain how to access the various census records that were available on microfilm. It was all those unnamed people at the LATTER DAY SAINTS Family Libraries who gave so freely of their time and advice. It was GREG WEIGEL of Radio Shack at Sonoma, Ca. who kept the Tandy 1000HD 640K computer up and running. It was HOWARD NURSE of COMMSOFT at Mountain View, Ca. that provided Roots3 Software that managed the tremendous amount of data that was collected in this endeavor. It was DALE HURST of WorData in San Rafael, Ca. who worked closely with me in preparing this final manuscript. It was ANN HEGE HUGES of Gateway Press,Inc. in Baltimore, Md. who was there at the finish line. Finally, it was my wife, AUDREY, who did all the little things that can go unnoticed at the time but without which this genealogy would never have been completed.

EXPLANATION OF FORMAT, NUMBERS, AND ABBREVIATIONS USED

This genealogy has been structured in two formats. One is the ancestor or Ahnentafel system. The other is the traditional descendant method. The ancestor format starts with a person in the present generation and assigns the Ahnentafel number 1. The male parent is number 2. The female parent is number 3. The number of each successive male parent is doubled and his wife is that number, plus 1. Thus, the parents of 2. become 4. and 5. and the parents of 3. become 6. and 7. etc.

The significance of the numbers is described in the following record:

158. Jacob [9] Ely (William [3], 229) (A500).

where: 158. = the sequential record number.
Jacob Ely = the subject of this record
[9] = the 9th generation ancestor.
William = Jacob's father.
[3] = the 3rd generation descendant in America is William.
229 = the record number for William.
A500 = Jacob's Ahnentafel number. Half of this number, 250, is his descendant, double the number, 1000, is his father.

Where a wife's name is used in conjunction with her husband's name, the wife's maiden name, if known, is shown in parentheses, thusly, Audrey (Perry) Ward.

To avoid needless repetition, surnames of children have been omitted.

The descendant format uses only record numbers and numbers such as [1] to distinguish generations.

Abbreviations have been kept to a minimum, such as: b.=born; m.=married; d.=died; ca.=circa; Eng.=England; Ire.=Ireland; ch.=church; daugh.=daughter; months of the year are shortened to the first three letters; and the two letter abbreviations are used for the 50 States.

Calendar. It is beyond the scope of this work to explain the Julian Calendar, the Georgian Calendar, the Napoleonic Calendar etc. Dates have been adjusted, as nearly as possible, to the calendar currently in use.

She married Robert Boyd Ward Jr (2) (A2).

THIRD GENERATION

4. Robert Boyd[3] Ward (Hugh [2], 8) (A4). Born, 11 Nov 1852, in NYC. Died, 18 Oct 1915, in New Rochelle,NY. Burial in Homewood Cem., Pittsburgh,Pa. Occupation: Founder-Bakery. Robert Boyd Ward is another American success story. It was a modest beginning, son of Irish famine immigrants, born in New York City where his father, Hugh, operated a bakery. About 1857, Hugh moved his family and relocated his bakery to Allegheny City,Pa., now Pittsburgh. Robert helped his father in the bakery of necessity, as many men were going off to fight in the Civil War. In 1876, at age 24, Robert opened the London Bakery on Penn Ave. By 1890, he opened another bakery and brought his half brother, George Summerfield Ward, into the business. The next two decades ushered in a succession of technical innovations, acquisitions, and mergers. No longer was bread made by hand in locations of questionable sanitary conditions but was mixed, moulded and baked by machinery - never touched by human hands - wrapped - sealed - and delivered fresh - from spotless bakeries. By 1912, Ward Baking Company of New York was incorporated to consolidate the many companies into one capitalized at thirty million dollars ($30,000,000.). About that time, Robert moved his family into a palatial estate on Quaker Ridge Road, New Rochelle, New York. As a civic leader, he was President of the Pittsburgh Common Council, Trustee of the American University of Washington, D.C., Vice President of the Liberty National and Liberty Savings Bank, Director of the Franklin Trust Company, 32nd degree Mason and many club memberships as well. He was a philanthropist too. As a memorial to his mother,

He was a sports fan too, having been a big investor in the Federal Baseball League, owning what was then the Brooklyn Feds which later became the Brooklyn Dodgers, now the Los Angeles Dodgers. Although good fortune had certainly shined on Robert, the mark of this loved, honored and respected man is reflected in his credo:

If you have had a kindness shown, - Pass it on.
'Twas not meant for you alone, - Pass it on.
Keep it going down the years, -
Let it wipe another's tears 'Till in Heaven
the deed appears. - Pass it on.

FIFTH GENERATION

16. James[5] Ward [1] (A16). Born, circa 1794, in Ireland. Died, 27 Dec 1885, in Allegheny,Pa. Burial in Union Dale Cem, Pittsburgh, Pa. Occupation: Grocer. The surname Ward is known to exist in the early records of Ireland, Scotland and England. O'Hart in Irish Pedigrees traces the name back to one of the original three tribes of Ireland through #85 Eocha on the Ward line to #85 Iomachadh on the Manning line, to his father, #83 Fiacha Araidhe on the Guiness pedigree, who was the 37th King of Ulster, of the Irian race, then to Cionog, "brother of Ros #63 on the "Line of Ir". One of the earlier Wards of note, according to the Annals of the Four Masters, was Maelisa Mac an Bhaird, Bishop of Clonfert, who died 1123. "Mac" stands for "son of" and "Bhaird" for "Bard".

The name was modernized to Ward. The name can be found on the list of the hundred commonest names of Ireland. The birth indexes show a very high presence of this surname in the counties of Galway and Donegal, which are probably of Celtic origin. Baptismal records of the children of James Ward are in the Killinchy Church records of County Down. Unfortunately, there is a big void in these records prior to 1819. A James Ward of Drumgoland is listed on the 1796 Flax rolls and two James Wards are listed on the 1823-38 Tithe Applotment Books. It is uncertain if either one of these was our ancestor. We do know that James Ward married a Cleland, a name that can be traced back to the early migration of Scots to Northern Ireland. Also, Ward families are found in Scotland with given names similar to those given to the children of James. It is doubtful that James was related to the Wards of Bangor and Castleward who were of English ancestry. Therefore, the progenitors of James Ward were probably of Scots origin. James and his family, Hugh preceded him by one year, immigrated from Belfast on Aug. 1,1849 on the ship "Canton". He ran a grocery-bakery store below his home at 402 Eighth St.,N.Y.C. before moving to Allegheny City about 1857. He married Margaret Cleland (17) (A17), circa 1825, in Ireland. Children:

18. William[5] Boyd (A18). Born, circa 1790, in Ballygeegon, Killinchy,Down. The Boyd family is documented in Killinchy Presbyterian Church Records of 1812-1835, County Down. Boyd families in County Down were numerous during this period and most, if not all, had immigrated there from Scotland. Boyd, an illustrious name in Scotland, goes back to Robert Boyd who died before 1240 and is alleged to have been related to the royal family of Stewarts. He married Glily Cain (19) (A19), circa 1810, in Ballygeegon, Killinchy,Down. Children:

36. Johann Peter Nicholas[6] Anshutz (A44). Born, circa 1768, in Strassburg,Fr. Died, circa 1833, in Pa. Occupation: Hammersmith. According to a "Sketch of the Anshutz Family" by Philip Anshutz (b.ca.1810) found in the John Mitchell scrapbook Vol. 3, there were four brothers. George b. ca. 1753; Philip b. ca. 1757; Johann Peter (aka Jean Pierre) b. ca. 1768 and Andrew b. ca. 1782. An excerpt from this scrapbook may be found in the Appendix of this book. However, it seems appropriate at this point to include a short account of Johann Peter's brother, George. George left a prominent position as assistant superintendant of Lord Dietrich's mines in the rich iron ore district of Alsace to come to America. At the age of 35, with his wife and family, they arrived at Philadelphia 12 Sep 1791 on the "Fair America". Undoubtedly, the turmoil preceding the French Revolution with young men being conscripted into service had a profound influence on the decision to give up the security and prestige he enjoyed in Alsace. George is to be credited with having built in 1794 a furnace for smelting iron ore that produced the first iron castings in Pittsburgh. Jean Pierre and family immigrated to the U.S. in 1818 on the ship "William of Baltimore". There doesn't appear to be any American connection between this family and Phillip Anschutz born at Russell, Kansas, the 18th richest man in America (Forbes 7-25-88). Johann Peter Anshutz married Margaretha Elisabeth Schauer (37) (A45). Children:

This genealogy has been modified to give effect to the exhaustive research done in two separate studies. One, on the Thacher line, is a study done by John R. Totten in NYGB Oct.1910. The second is an article which cast doubts on the Sears line by Samuel Pearce in the May issue of NEGH Vol. 40 (July 1886) p.261. Although no explanation or conclusions were reached by Pearce, this researcher is inclined to believe that the recording of one generation of Bouchier Sears Jr. was inadvertently dropped. Apparently, the practice in use then was to address the oldest, Sr. and the younger, Jr., but when Sr. died, Jr. became Sr., hence, a plausible explanation for overlooking a whole generation. EXCERPTS FROM AN 1892 ADDRESS BY ROBERT BOYD WARD

I do not know that I could say anything that might be more interesting than to give you a short history of our business. It will necessarily be, to a large extent, a history of myself, and I hope you will excuse what might seem to you to be egotism.

I had an interest in the baking business at a very early age. That is, I had a working interest. My father and my grandfather were both engaged in the business in New York City, and I divided my time between them. My grandfather's bedroom was on the first floor, right back of the store, and I can remember very well, when I was about four years of age, standing up in the bed which stood along side of the window looking out into the street and watch the men load the wagon every morning.

You will notice from this that there was a time when I got up in the morning. And after our folks came to Allegheny, when I was between six and seven years old, it was part of my duty to make two or three batches of cakes a day, and after they were baked, pack them in a basket and carry them about a mile to a little store that stood on the corner of Federal St. & Stockton Ave.

I was working in the bread shop when I was so small I had to have a box to stand on. And I was selling bread on a wagon almost before I knew how to drive. At that time, we ran things very different from what we do now. We started to bake about four o'clock in the morning and the first batch would be out by nine. As soon as the bread was baked, I started off, and would be back in a couple of hours. And, if the second batch was not ready, would turn in and help until it was baked; when I would go again, and so on until everything was out.

I remained with my father until I was twenty-three years of age, when I left to form a partnership with a young man to go into the grocery business. We continued in this business for over two years. But as we were both very anxious to get married, and as we found out the business would not support two families, we concluded to dissolve the partnership; my partner buying my interest.

One day I accidentally ran across an advertisement of a bakery for sale. And little thinking there was anything in it, I concluded to hunt it up. I enquired at the address given and found it was located in East Liberty. I took the first train I could get, found the place, looked it over, and was satisfied (if everything was as represented) it was just what I was looking for. I arranged to go over the route on the following Monday, and finding everything all right, concluded to close the deal.

But the trouble was I only had about three-fourths of the amount of money necessary to buy. However, this was finally arranged, and on the fourth day of February 1878, I took possession and started in the baking business on my own account.

At that time we were only baking about fifteen barrels a week. I had expected to assist in the shop and drive the wagon, but soon found that would not work. I want to give you an idea of the territory covered by this one horse wagon. From the shop located on Penn Avenue, near the bridge, the bakery wagon made its way to homes and shops covering a 44 block wide area. As near as I can remember, this was the territory covered by old No. 1. Today, this has since been divided, so that parts of it are now being served by Nos. 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 13, and 14. On each of these different routes there are still some of the people buying bread who bought the first day I went out.

Note: These excerpts were taken from an Address by Mr. R. B. Ward to his Employes at Cyclorama Hall, Allegheny, in 1892.

MORE ABOUT WARD BAKING COMPANY

In the early decades of the 20th Century, the Ward Baking Company rapidly expanded throughout the eastern part of the United States. It had 21 of the most modern bakeries ever built and operated. These bakeries produced most of the bread and bakery products in America. In the New York area alone, the Ward Baking Company had three of the largest, and most completely mechanized bakeries ever built. They were in Brooklyn, New York City (the Bronx), and Newark. Each of these three bakeries had a weekly maximum capacity to produce 3,500,000 (three and one-half million) pounds of bread per week. The ovens of the bakeries were "travelling hearth ovens" 120 feet in length, consisting of 30 feet wide wrought iron plates that were made into an endless belt. The speed of the belt over natural gas burners was coordinated with the temperatures in the ovens to obtain the proper baking time. To achieve such massive bakery production, it was necessary to mechanize all possible operations. This involved the mixing of 1,200 lbs. of dough; the innovation of "scalers" and "rounders" that mechanically weighed and formed the dough in specially constructed bread pans; and the fabrication of uniquely designed "proof-rooms" where heat and humidity could properly control the raising of the dough as it passed through these proof rooms on endless conveyors. The mechanical developments inaugurated by the Ward Baking Company became a benchmark that was copied throughout the baking industry for years to come.

When bread produced in various Ward bakeries that used identical formulas and ingredients were not of the same quality and texture, the Ward Baking Company turned to the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Pa. Their research determined the need to stablize and standardize the mineral content of the water used in the mixing of doughs. The result was a process called ARCADY, named for the Mellon Institute research scientist Robert Kennedy Duncan (R.K.D.). ARCADY was patented by Ward Baking Company. ARCADY is merely a well balanced combination of wholesome mineral salts similar to those found in varying amounts in different foods. In ARCADY, these salts are blended together in the proper proportions so as to meet the bakers needs to improve loaf characteristics and decrease fermentation losses. It is most significant that Ward Baking Company in initiating the discovery of ARCADY made this process available to all of the baking industry, thereby raising the standards of bakery products for the entire population.

During the extensive research resulting in the discovery of ARCADY, the studies conducted by the Mellon Institute into the composition of wheat and the production of flour yielded two more revelations. First, it was noted that in the milling of wheat to produce flour, the wheat germ found at the base of each wheat berry was being removed because its fatty oils were spoiling the flour. Secondly, it was learned that this wheat germ or berry was the principle source of VITAMIN "E".

The Ward Baking Company is credited with having had the first "bakery experimental laboratories" where bakery ingredients and procedures were continually studied.

The Ward Baking Company was instrumental in establishing the American Institute of Baking at Chicago,Il

The Ward Baking Company devised the "The King Accounting System", a first in bakery accounting systems.

As a leader in the baking industry without peers, The Ward Baking Company was the vision and fulfillment of one man, Robert Boyd Ward.

PETER ANSHUTZ'S JOURNEY TO AMERICA

(As told in the words of Peter Anshutz Jr.)

Peter Anshutz, 3rd of the original brothers, corresponded with his two brothers in America. Bear in mind there was no steam ships on the Atlantic Ocean at that time, nor any railroads on land in either country. That made correspondence between Europe and America, very uncertain as well as costly, compared with the present, and very slow. There were troublesome times in Europe in those days as it was during the time of the Napoleon wars in Europe especially in France. Letters were intercepted under suspicion on both sides of the Atlantic but Peter Anshutz in Sinswillar (near Strassburg, France) did get some letters from his distant brothers and they informed him that he had better come to America, and how to prepare for the journey, posted and advised him, as they had once made the trip and so advised him to go on no other vessal to cross the Atlantic but an American Merchantman.

P.A. had by this time fully made up his mind to come to America but now there appeared cause for delay, (and all honor to him) his wife with young baby, so he postponed this trip one year to enable the mother and child to be able to endure the voyage. Early in the spring of 1818 Peter Anshutz started for America with a family of 10 persons to see to and pay for. Peter A's family consisted of five boys and two girls, the oldest son Peter was about 18 years old, Christian, was next then came a daughter, Margaret, then Philip and William, then another daughter Charlott then Jacob the baby.

I will now give the reason and some of the causes that brings or drives some of the people away from that country. It is not alone the seeking of a better country to live in and accumulate greater riches although no doubt many came hoping and expecting to better their condition, but such was not the case nor the cause to send that brought Peter Anshutz to America, this I know. He never expected to be better fixed in America then he was in Europe. He was at this time over 50 years old and with so large a family in a new country where he could not even speak the language of the country to which he was going, and spending a small fortune in going. He could not expect to be any better financially. He left to save his boys from being drafted into the French army under Napoleon. He had five sons and the oldest only lacked a year or two of being old enough to be drafted and every two years after the first was drafted one other would be taken. (There is a register kept in that country of all births male when a boy come near manhood he was called for and drafted into the armies. Parents sometimes have difficulty in getting away with their boys wanted for soldiers.) Going into the French army at that time was like following your sons to the grave, or to soldiers forever. This is what brought him to America. He gave up his comfortable home his high and honorable name among his neighbors and employers the owner of those three iron works - a sure and pleasant living for himself and mother of his children among their relations, all this he and wife sacrificed by coming to America. The older ones appreciated this, the younger ones did not; being too young. Peter Anshutz Sr. only lived 15 years in this country. Came an entire stranger to climate and people. The 15 years here were no years of pleasure to the parents. The oldest two, Peter Jr. and Christian being too young to aid and assist their parents to earn a living. All these seven children were now at an age to be educated. Peter Jr. was fairly educated in Europe, was learned in French as well as in German, German was the home language, but all business was done in French, such as law business. That country was then under French rule but since 1871 is under the German (Prussion) Government.

It is now time to start. (The start to Amer.) In the spring of 1818 Peter Anshutz left their old much lamented home & friends for America, in wagons. Many friends old and young followed on foot to see them off. Tears were shed on both sides in great plenty. I think they got to the River Rhine the first day. They passed the town Wooms (Worms), next town was Manis (Mainz). (You can find these places on maps. Was in Hotel at Parrs. Mother forgot a piece of belonging on leaving.) Here they let the wagons go back and took a boat for Kellon (Cologne), don't know how far it was from place to place. After reaching Kellon they again took a boat. They next got a canal boat through Holland to the City of Amsterdam. Here we seen the first salt water. We went to a hotel and remained about three weeks I suppose waiting to get an American ship, such as his brothers that were in America had advised him to embark in. Here they seen the first negro that they had ever seen and the first brown sugar ever seen by the family loaf sugar being the only sugar used in the country. As large vessels can't get near the city of Amsterdam they went on a small vessel to Texel and here was the ship we were to sail in across the Atlantic Ocean named "William of Baltimore". This ship left Baltimore for Africa for a cargo of Coffee, for Amsterdam, and was now on her way home, entirely empty, except for ballast. How long they remained at Texel I do not know, but it was several days. Ships then had no steam tow boats to tow them in and out of harbors as now. At last we got under way with nothing on board neither freight nor passengers excepting Peter Anshutz family and sand for ballast. The cabin is in the stern of the boat and the sailers, or crew, in the forecastl. The whole balance of the ship was for us. We sailed through the English channel westward toward sunset every evening for 9 weeks. If we had storms I know nothing of them. I will say as it looks to me now that the voyage was a very pleasant one.

Being early summer the weather was fine. The ship had got two monkeys from Africa where they had taken on the Coffee. The monkeys were about the second size that is about 2 and 1/2 ft high. They run loose over the rigging as they pleased and the boys had much fun watching the monkeys which were up in the rigging. They were very shy. One day Christian, the 2nd son, seeing the monkeys out of sight thought it a good chance to slip in and examine their nest. This was a lifeboat on the main deck, in the stern of this boat. Thinking the monkeys out of sight he stooped down when up in the little boat to examine the nest. They seen him at their nest and before he could raise up they were down and jumped on his head and back and begun to maul him and pull out handfuls of hair. They did not seem to want to bite but pulled his hair severely. He got away as best he could and the monkeys were not disturbed again.

Arrived in Baltimore and went to a hotel and stayed there several days. Then engaged 2 or 3 good wagons with 6 horses to each. We weighed the stuff (The bargain was so much 100 lbs.) and the whole family on scales and got into wagons and started for Pittsburgh.

Then followed another long journey (These teamsters were pleasant lively men. Stopped at hotel every night.) and we arrived in Pittsburgh sometime in August the year 1818. Were kindly received by Uncle George's sons and others living in Pittsburgh.

Note: The above was selected from a 15 page typewritten sketch of the Anschutz family written by P. J. Anshutz Jr. April 26, 1895, found in the John Mitchell scrapbook Vol. 3. The full text of the Anshutz Family sketch is on microfilm at the LDS Library at Salt Lake City, Utah.
